

Target chart

the add sector button does not seem to do anything.

no way to delete sectors from i can see.

double clicking the factor on the chart does not open that factor for it to be edited or deleted. it just changes the chart somehow that I don't understand

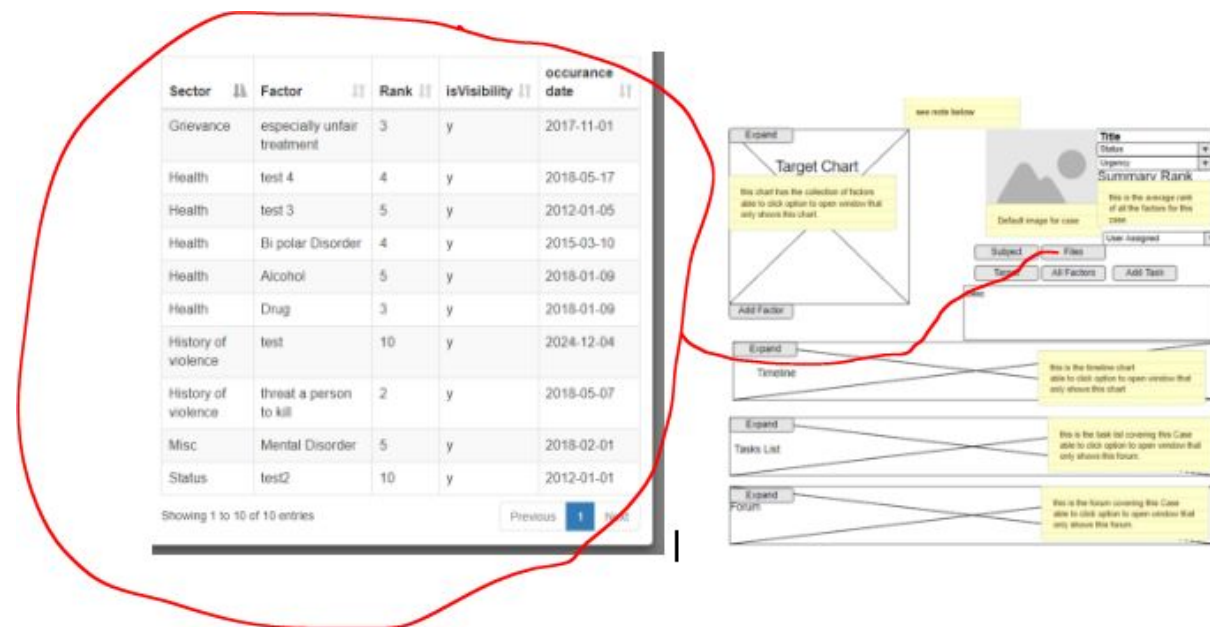

Zoom does not work, it just move does weird things to the chart.

We need to be able to zoom into the certain groupings of factors to be able to make them distinct.

There is a zero as a factor sector and not sure why.

when you click Add Factor, you get a table of factors but not sure why, it is not wireframe mock up.

we do have a "all factors" window but that is a separate window, not part of the single factor window. See below

More below

Timeline chart

The factor does not have the title of the factor in the chart; just rank and date.
It should also be double clicked to open the factor as well to edit or delete.

The x-axis line (along the bottom) should show the timeline; see below

